CORE PRINCIPLES

Prince Henry's vision statement reads: Prince Henry's Grammar School will become internationally recognised as a highly successful learning community that provides sustainable outstanding education for young people of all abilities. Students will leave Prince Henry's as lifelong independent learners who have the creativity, adaptability, resilience and leadership skills to contribute to, and succeed in, our 21st century society.

In working with Year 12 we ground our policies and decision-making in four core principles derived from this vision:

- Long-term view: our lessons are geared towards ensuring that what students learn is learned for the long-term; and our curriculum and wider offer will develop skills and experiences that benefits students in the long term. We not only want them to reach their intended destination, but to thrive there.
- Community and citizenship: we want our students to be compassionate, engaged, positive members of their communities, and responsible national and global citizens, with a strong concern for justice and sustainability.
- Professionalism: students will be treated, and expected to behave, as responsible professional students. Our staff and systems will expect high standards of attendance, punctuality, attitude and commitment.
- An open mindset and resilience: students will find Sixth Form study challenging. We will aim to help them develop the ability to take criticism, to bounce back from mistakes, and not to obsess about grades but to focus on getting their approach and processes right.

1. ADMIN. AND INFORMATION

Information

We will keep you informed via the website, letters and email. Please let us have your email address if you haven't already.

Students have access to a dedicated Sixth Form Sharepoint page with lots of information on about A-level courses, university information and much more; they can also sign up to our Twitter feed @PHGSSixthForm.

Planners

Sixth Form students are still issued with planners and are expected to use them as an organizational tool. It is just one of the ways that we help them to develop as independent learners and manage their time well.

Parents are no longer expected to sign these planners but we would encourage you to look at them to see when important deadlines are looming and for positive comments teachers have added.

ID Badges

ID badges are worn by Sixth Form students as part of our commitment to safeguarding. They must be displayed at all times when on site. The school site is not a secure one and there have been instances of members of the public coming onto the school grounds. ID Badges ensure that Sixth Formers are easily identifiable as belonging to the school.

Finance

The system for providing financial support to students in Further Education is via the Student Bursary.

This Bursary can be accessed by those families whose household income falls below £30,000 (there may be some discretion for families with a large number of dependants). If students are eligible for Free School Meals we recommend that they apply for this as this will give automatic access to this money. If students are not in receipt of FSM then they will have to apply via school and provide supporting evidence. Please contact the Sixth Form Office for more details.

Bursary money will only be released to students who show a consistent approach to their studies and have a 95% attendance as well as remaining on track in their chosen subjects.

Support

We offer help on managing exam stress; tips on time management and essay writing; advice about careers and progression routes; and help with personal issues with family, friends and health.

We also have time reserved in the library on Tuesday and Thursday for Supported Study. Between 3 and 4pm students can spend time with members of the Sixth Form Team improving study skills and resolving specific problems in their studies. At times students may be directed by particular staff to make use of this time, so should arrange any other commitments, including part-time work, to avoid conflicting with this time.

Course Structure

As A-levels are now two year courses, students will not be entered for the AS at the end of Year 12. Most students are only taking 3 courses and will continue with these for two years. For students taking 4 courses including sciences, it may be possible to sit an AS at the end of year 12 and to drop this subject but AS is not available in many subjects. AS grades provide 40% of the UCAS points given to full A-levels.

In all subjects, students will sit end of year exams which will determine progression into Year 13. These exams will also be used as a basis for predicting university grades and therefore are very important. Although the BTEC courses are two year courses, students must pass the Year 12 element in order to proceed into Year 13.

Car Parking

Car park space at the school is limited and we cannot offer parking spaces to Sixth Form students.

Part-time Jobs

We know that many students need the independence a part-time job and wage can give them. We support the experiences and skills that they can develop in a real working environment. However, working too many hours can be detrimental to their studies. It is recommended that students do not work more than 9 hours per week and a reduction in hours during exam periods is highly recommended. Students should not take up paid work during Home Study sessions. This is because these are intended as working hours, and as any such arrangement may not be permanent, depending on progress, attendance and attitude.

Policies

We have a number of policies which cover behaviour, mobile phones and student dress which are explained in detail in the Student Planner.

iPads

All Sixth Form students are expected to have an iPad or laptop to use in lessons. This can be a school iPad which is collected and returned each day, an iPad through the school scheme, or a personal device. This will allow students to access the whole curriculum.

2. LEARNING AND PROGRESS

MEA grades

Student MEA grades are generated using statistical estimates of progress for students of similar prior attainment, with an aspirational element built in. A student who is 'on track' is seen as being on the correct trajectory at that moment in time to achieve their 'MEA'. This is not a guarantee but is rather to inform students and parents that, if the student continues to work hard and make the same level of progress, this is our best estimate of their outcome. A student who is 'below track' is not necessarily failing, but will need to make adjustments to their learning in order to attain the expected grade.

In keeping with our core principle of developing an open mindset, we do not see MEAs as being in any way a 'cap' on achievement. It really is work ethic, effort and motivation that will be the main determinants of success.

Progress Review

Students will receive a progress review three times a year – please see Key Dates at the back for when these will be. These are important indicators of where the students are in terms of their studies and whether their performance matches their minimum expected attainment grades. There is an opportunity for you to speak to teachers about your son's/daughter's progress in the first term. However, if you have concerns at any point during the year please do not hesitate to contact us.

Student Induction Period

To ensure students have chosen courses on which they are likely to succeed, a period of six weeks at the start of term will be used to assess suitability for courses. If, after the first three weeks, a student has given teachers cause for concern, we will inform both parents/carers and the student, and begin to work with the student to see what can be done to turn this around.

Teachers will then assess the student on a weekly basis to see if their concerns remain. If, at the end of the period, a student's teachers believe they are not likely to pass a particular course, there will be a discussion about options going forward. We will keep the student and parents/carers informed of progress throughout this period.

Attendance

Expectations in the Sixth Form are high and this means not missing any lessons where possible. The attendance policy follows a structured process whereby parents are informed at various stages if attendance becomes a concern and students should be prepared to attend supported study to catch up any work missed. All students should arrive in school in time for registration at 8.30am and attend all timetabled lessons on time. All pre-booked absence such as medical appointments must be authorized in advance and non-urgent appointments should be made outside school time. If your child is unexpectedly absent due to illness we ask that you ring school on the first day of the absence and give an estimate of the length of time he or she is likely to be absent for. Please contact the Sixth Form Office as soon as possible if there are any issues regarding attendance.

For those students claiming the Student Bursary, attendance is particularly important as funding is contingent on 95% attendance.

Most students have a number of non-contact periods: students call them "frees", we call them Private Study Periods. While they may not have contact with a teacher they should be extending their understanding of their subjects through independent study.

When they are at school they are expected to use the facilities in the school to get work done, most courses expect students to be doing at least four hours personal study a week. If a student is doing 4 subjects they should be doing around 16 hours of independent study per week.

Home Private Study

There is an opportunity for students to be able to study at home during their non-contact periods. This is known as Home Private Study. Students will be granted 3 hours per fortnight once timetables are finalised and can earn more throughout the year through good attitude, attendance and progress. If attendance or attitude to learning slip below the required standards, home study privileges will be revoked.

Maximising learning

We do not just want students to cover topics, but to learn them. In lessons, teachers will focus on activities and assessment that maximise the retention of information – and its later retrieval. Students themselves should use the same approach in home study.

Studies have shown that the keys to learning are 1) active processing – the more active a student's brain is when learning, the more likely they are to recall what they learn. For example, speaking up in class, not just listening; abbreviating and changing the wording of information, not simply copying. 2) Deep learning – practising knowledge and skills until they become instinctive. This is why Year 12 is so important as a 'bedrock' of learning. 3) Practice and testing. Students get better at what they do. They should therefore practise remembering and retrieving, not just learning. As a key part of revision, they should test themselves, and check their answers, not just read and re-read or take fresh notes again and again.

3. THE WIDER CURRICULUM AND PROGRESSION

Careers and Progression

The Sixth Form Team has a wealth of experience when it comes to progression advice but we do have the additional services of Careers Advisors. If students would like a meeting with them Mrs Robinson-Junni can book an appointment. In order to help our pupils make those all-important decisions about what they want to do after the 6th Form, we also organise a programme of events and activities with Universities and Employers. Students will have opportunities to speak to people from other organisations about Post-18 apprenticeships, travelling abroad on Gap Years and applying to University. This programme is delivered on PHSE days, as well as within assemblies and tutor time. We cannot stress enough how important it is for them to attend these sessions – it really will help them make the right choices for their future.

Unifrog and competencies

Each student should have a log-on to the website Unifrog. As well as containing a wealth of information about destinations and courses, and advice on applying, this is where students will draft their personal statement. They will also be asked to keep track of their achievements and activities, as it is all too easy to forget what they have done and learned when it comes to the point of applying!

Students should aim to reflect on the skills they are learning throughout the year and record these on Unifrog. These are known as 'competencies' – see icon on the final page. Please also note that regardless of students' intended destinations, we ensure that all students engage with Unifrog and the Ucas process. This is partly because many students change their minds as they enter Year 13; but it is also because the planning, drafting and information-gathering process is of value for any type of future application.

Enrichment Curriculum

Enrichment is a key part of the Sixth Form. All students are expected to follow an enrichment course and engage in some enrichment activities for up to five hours a fortnight. The timetable has been organized so that time in school is dedicated to this. Courses on offer include the Extended Project Qualification and Core Maths amongst others. Enrichment is not just fun and rewarding in the short term. It both helps students to make high-quality applications, and genuinely develops skills, habits and character traits that will support them in the future.

Student Leadership

At Prince Henry's we have a strong commitment to developing and improving leadership qualities among our students. In Sixth Form we have a wide variety of enrichment and volunteering opportunities to help them advance this skill.

We have a strong and effective Student Council who are led by our Head Students and the Senior Students. We also run mentoring schemes for students in lower years, organise charitable events, and public debating contests with the European Youth Parliament, to name but a few.

The benefits of being involved in such activities are that students develop social as well as leadership skills, and it is these that universities and employers want to see alongside formal qualifications. By providing these opportunities for students we are helping to give them the 'edge' they need against increasing competition in today's market place.
